TERRY COMBS NAMED ASSISTANT TO REGIONAL DIRECTOR IN ATLANTA

National Labor Relations Board General Counsel Ronald Meisburg today announced the appointment of Terry Combs as Assistant to the Regional Director of the NLRB's Regional Office in Atlanta, GA (Region 10). Earlier this year Mr. Combs transferred from the NLRB's Regional Office in Cincinnati, Ohio to become a Supervisory Examiner in the Atlanta Office. In his new position, he will assist Regional Director Martin M. Arlook in the administration and enforcement of the National Labor Relations Act in Georgia, northern Alabama, and eastern Tennessee.

In announcing the appointment, General Counsel Meisburg said, "Terry Combs' service, with both the Agency and in the private sector, has given him a broad understanding of the labor issues that arise before this Agency on a regular basis. We are lucky to have his considerable skills and ability to foster high quality and timely case processing in the Atlanta Regional Office"

After a stint in the U.S. Coast Guard, Terry was employed in the paper industry. During that time he held a variety of the local union positions with the United Paperworkers International Union. While working full-time he earned two undergraduate degrees from Miami University (Ohio) and a Master of Arts in Labor Employment Relations from the University of Cincinnati. In 1997, Terry began his career as a Field Examiner in Indianapolis (Region 25) and transferred to Cincinnati (Region 9) in 2000.

The NLRB administers and enforces the National Labor Relations Act. It conducts secret-ballot elections to determine whether employees desire union representation and investigates and remedies unfair labor practices.
